Creative Suite 2

You are invited to a free seminar on Adobe Systems new Creative Suites 2. During this seminar, you can learn to streamline processes and create one clear piece of precise, accessible communication - more easily and more affordably than ever.

This is an opportunity to learn the latest in Adobe's line of content-creation software from Lynn Grillo, Application Engineer from Adobe's Creative Suite group. Grillo is an expert in all aspects of Creative Suite, including Web content and document and image management. In this hour-and-a-half seminar, we will focus on presenting technologies that can streamline your agency's processes and help gain a greater control over print input.

Creative Suite 2 can help you to:

- Professionally design constituent communications
- Share project files more securely and confidently while working on a team
- Track all files and assets
- Gain greater control over print output
- Easily gather and combine items (text, photos, maps, charts, and data) into one document
- Publish time-sensitive information while reducing production costs and development time

Discover how Creative Suite 2 is designed to assist you in your publishing projects
